Scenes and Ceremonies Attending the Rev. Father McHugh's First Mass.

Grand Gathering of People in Honor of the Young Dominican.

Eloquent Sermon by the Very Rev. Father Volz a Feature.

RECEIVED A ROYAL IRISH WELCOME

Amid impressive scenes and inspiring ceremonies the Rev. Father John Ambrose McHugh, O. P., celebrated his first mass at St. Louis Bertrand church at 9 o'clock last Sunday morning. It was a day of general rejoicing in Limerick, and that name is not used disparagingly. The people of that section of the city called their Irish Catholic brethren from all over Louisville to rejoice with them.

It was one of Limerick's boys who was for the first time to celebrate the holy sacrifice of the mass. A son of Pat McHugh and his estimable wife had donned the garments of the order of St. Dominic. After years of study and long absence from home one of their own boys was back among them. No warrior returning from magnificent conquests could hope to receive the welcome home that was given Father McHugh. The returning victor gets the people's attention.

The huzzas of the people in his case are more or less selfish, since the people expect to receive material benefits as a result of his conquests. But the young priest receives the welcome of those who are one of God's chosen, that he has become the special ambassador of Christ's kingdom upon earth, and what a welcome an Irish crowd can give you. A little while the sun shone and while the rain poured in torrents. A little while that vast congregation smiled and then their tears flowed—not tears of sorrow or regret, but tears of joy and thankfulness to the giver of all good who had chosen one of their own number to officiate at His altar. It reminded them that the land that had given St. Columbkille, St. Brigid, St. Lawrence O'Toole and so many others to the world through her sons and daughters in this country was keeping up the work of St. Patrick, the work of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. If not in word, at least in heart and mind, these God-fearing, honest people gave the young priest the Irish poet's welcome:

"Come in the evening or come in the morning,
Come when you're looked for, or come without warning,
Kisses and welcome you'll find here before you,
And the offerer you come here, the more we'll adore you."

Despite the inclemency of the weather the spacious church was filled when the big bell announced that the celebration was about to begin. In the front pew to the left of the main altar sat Mr. and Mrs. McHugh, their eldest daughter and three sons. On the right were the Sisters of St. Dominic from Holy Rosary Academy, several of them Louisville girls. Around and behind these sat the friends of the young priest. The organ sounded a grand processional and the ceremonies begin. Those who took part walked from the convent on Sixth street to the church near by. After the cross-bearer and acolytes came three little girls clad in white. Two of them were Father McHugh's sisters. The third carried a wreath typifying a bride—the Church whose spouse Father McHugh had become. Then followed the Rev. Brothers James and Julian, of the Xaverian Order, from whom the young priest had received his early training. Behind were Father McHugh and his assistants at the holy sacrifice. The Rev. Brother Martin, Father McHugh's first teacher, occupied a seat in the middle aisle. The Rev. Father Raffo, the Rev. Father McPeely, O. P., and several others occupied seats in the sanctuary. The three little girls were given seats at a prie-dieu. After a short prayer the mass began with the Rev. Father Flood as assistant priest; the Rev. Father Lawler as deacon; and the Rev. Father Dunn as sub-deacon. The splendid choir sang the Gregorian music as ordered by His Holiness Pius X. At the altar the Very Rev. Father Volz, prior of the Dominican Order, preached the sermon—one eminently befitting the occasion. He spoke at first on the dignity of the priesthood, its aims and objects. Then he told of the relation that should exist between the priest and the people, and of the honor it was to parents to have a son ordained. He asked the congregation to pray for this young priest that his life might be long and useful and holy. In conclusion, Father Volz addressed a few words of congratulation and admonition to the young priest. They were words of encouragement and loving advice from one brother Dominican to another. Many wept with joy while the able sermon was delivered. It would be impossible to give a synopsis of it. It should have been better so.

The father, sister and three brothers of the young priest were the first to receive Holy Communion from his hands. At the conclusion of the mass the entire congregation knelt and received the blessing of Father McHugh. Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament followed, and in conclusion the Te Deum as sung by the Dominican Order was given by the choir.

As the vast congregation filed out men, women and children waited on the sidewalk in the hope of personally congratulating the new Dominican. Instead they had to be content with shaking hands with the father, Pat McHugh, while the happy mother and children were almost smothered with kisses. July 2, 1905, will be always a big day in the history of St. Louis Bertrand's parish.

GREAT INSTITUTION.

St. Mary's the Oldest Catholic College in the South and West.

The Kentucky Irish American this week received a call from Messrs. V. Fallis, A. B., and John M. Cooney, A. M., members of the faculty of St. Mary's College, the oldest Catholic college in Kentucky. This institution was founded in 1821, and has always held a high rank among the educational centers of the country, its degree today being recognized by the best universities in the land. Among its famous sons are men like Archbishop Spalding, Bishop John J. Doyle, of Chicago; Ex-Gov. J. Proctor Knott; the poet, David Ryan, brother of the "Poet Priest of the South," and a long list of well known physicians, lawyers, scientists and military men. Father James Kirwin, the Galveston hero, also made his studies there. It is a source of pride to the Catholics of Kentucky to know that this institution, founded and maintained by them, is second to none in the State, a fact recognized also by non-Catholics as well, many of whom, knowing the character of the education and training there received, send their sons to St. Mary's in preference to schools of their own denominations.

Last year was a banner year for St. Mary's, the attendance being the largest since the civil war, and the coming session, which opens in September, promises to surpass even the last one, for the advance of this Catholic college is sure and steady.

Professors Fallis and Cooney are visiting this summer, representing the college, and will be glad to give all wishing it any information desired. The Kentucky Irish American, which stands for everything tending to the progress of higher education, wishes them success.

WESTERN CITIES

Phenomenal Growth on Pacific Coast Brought Forward by Events.

When the Lewis and Clark Exposition at Portland, Ore., was projected, the intention was to signalize by an exhibition the growth of Oregon in wealth and resources since the two explorers sent on the recommendation of Thomas Jefferson reached the coast. The changed conditions which have followed the Spanish-American war and have marked the transformed Pacific coast States, making in a period of ten years a change almost as sweeping as occurred in the same region after the discovery of gold half a century ago.

Ten years ago the population of San Francisco was 350,000; it is now 450,000. Ten years ago the population of Portland, where the exhibition is to be held, was 80,000; it is now 140,000. Ten years ago the population of Seattle was 35,000; it is now 150,000. Ten years ago the population of Los Angeles was 80,000; it is now 125,000. Ten years ago the population of Tacoma was 35,000; it is now 70,000. Ten years ago the population of Spokane was 15,000; it is now 40,000.

These changes in ten years mark the growth of some of the largest cities of the Pacific coast, but in smaller towns along the coast the gain has been proportionately just as large; in some cases larger, following the development of an enlarged American market in the Orient. The Lewis and Clark Exposition is the first to be held west of the Rocky Mountains, and the Oregon country, the discovery of which the exposition is intended to commemorate, includes the present States of Oregon, Washington and Idaho. The growth of the Pacific coast cities in population exceeds the growth of the cities of any other section of the country during the same period, and the exposition is expected to boom them still further.

LADIES' AUXILIARY.

The Ladies' Auxiliary, A. O. H., held their regular meeting Wednesday night, and the attendance was unusually good. The members returned Division 1 a vote of thanks for entertaining them so handsomely last week, and expressed the wish that the other divisions would follow No. 4's example. Miss Mary Sheridan announced that she would be in Chicago when the next meeting occurred, so that the Vice President, Miss Elizabeth King, will preside on that occasion. Miss Julia Kelly enlivened the proceedings with several instrumental and vocal numbers.

SUCCESS

Attended the Efforts of Clergy and Laity On Behalf of Orphans.

Magnificent Outpouring of People at the Picnic Grounds.

All Deserve Credit Alike For the Result of This Grand Affair.

WINNERS TO BE KNOWN NEXT WEEK

If, as we have been taught, charity covers a multitude of sins, certainly the magnificent outpouring of the people at the orphans' picnic on July 4 ought to carry with it a covering for Louisville saints and sinners for some time to come. From every part of the city, from every nook and corner of the county of Jefferson, the people turned out. The day was not altogether an ideal one, and yet if one were asked to find fault with the weather he could not do it. It was just warm enough, just cool enough, just sunshine enough, just rain enough, to show that the angels of heaven were shedding tears of joy over the charity of Louisville people. Financially and socially it was a success. To no one individual, to no particular parish, belongs all the credit. The result was the work of what might be termed an unorganized organization.

In the first place it was July 4, the anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, and the people of Louisville were patriotic enough to desire to give vent to their feelings. In the second place it was a picnic for the benefit of the orphans, children who have none to support them. In the third place it gave an opportunity to the people to show their allegiance to our Right Rev. Bishop, who had called upon them to aid him in his efforts for the care of the fatherless and motherless children of the Catholic diocese of Louisville. With these three moving causes it was no wonder that the people turned out in magnificent multitudes. Every parish was represented by its hosts. Every pastor and assistant priest was on hand to lead his people and to cheer them on in the charitable work that was on hand.

If the men worked well, the women did better. From time to time the men who worked at the various stands desired to be relieved. Not so the women. Not one of them left her post until the picnic was over. And the children did their part. Many a little boy and girl who might have preferred to celebrate the glorious Fourth by shooting fire-crackers, etc., generously denied themselves the pleasure to spend money for the orphans.

No one man or woman can estimate the work, the amount of self-sacrifice that was necessary to make this picnic a success. One printer, who attended the picnic, said to a representative of the Kentucky Irish American: "I dreamed I went to heaven last night, and when I got there I had to stand in the ante-room. The Recording Angel had called a 'Chapel meeting,' and stopped everything. St. Peter, the 'Father of the Chapel,' wanted to know what the trouble was. The Recording Angel announced: 'There is going to be something doing in Louisville tomorrow, and I want some help. Men, women and children down there are going to do something extraordinary, and if I've got to record all those good deeds in the Book of Life, I'll be glad if you, Father of the Chapel, will kindly call upon a few angels to fold their wings, lay aside their harps, and take up their sticks to help me out on this momentous occasion.'"

"St. Peter promised him all the help he needed, and I woke up. I guess I was sent back for some good reason, but I feel satisfied that what was done has been carefully recorded."

A general meeting of the Executive Committee will be held at St. Francis Hall at 11 o'clock Monday morning. At that time final reports will be heard from all the parishes. At 8 o'clock on Tuesday night the winner of the piano and the winners on the various award books will be known. The winner of the phaeton offered by St. Patrick's church was declared, but too late for publication in this issue of the Kentucky Irish American.

AT ST. WILLIAM'S.

The beautiful Sacred Heart statue donated to St. William's church was placed on its pedestal in time for the feast of the Sacred Heart, which fell on Friday of last week. The formal blessing of the statue took place on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The Rev. Father Murphy officiated at the ceremonies, which were unusually impressive. Miss Lula May Brown presided at the organ and her rendition of church music was highly complimented.

WANTS TO KNOW.

"I've one fault to find with the Kentucky Irish American," said Officer Jack O'Neill to a representative of this paper on July 4. "You know nothing about it."

women, but you don't say a word about the men. I want to be dressed appropriately on a coming occasion, but I find no hints for men. I've been called upon to act as best man at the christening of Jake Smith's new baby. Don't you know Jake? He the manager of Rick Quinn's cafe. I don't know what to wear. Why don't you give the men a hint?" Jack is one of the most popular men that ever walked a Limerick beat. Surely some of the boys out there can tell him how to be properly attired on this momentous occasion.

HOLY TRINITY.

Rev. Charles Curran, Rector, and Rev. W. P. Griffin, Assistant.

Rev. Charles Curran has been appointed permanent rector of Holy Trinity church, New Albany, in succession to Rev. John B. Kelly, deceased. Rev. Father William Patrick Griffin, has been appointed assistant rector of the same church. The appointments were announced July 5 by Bishop Chastard. Father Curran comes from St. Patrick's church, Davies county. He was formerly pastor of St. Martin's church in Martin county, and is a priest of deep learning and great piety. Father Griffin is a young priest and comes from Indianapolis. Both will assume their pastoral duties tomorrow. The appointments have been awaited with much interest by Catholics in New Albany and in Southern Indiana for several weeks, as Holy Trinity is one of the most prosperous parishes in the State, and the rectorship is a very desirable one. The relations were made by Bishop Chastard and his counselors after much consideration and deliberation.

The Rev. Edward R. Kennedy, who has been filling the position of rector of Holy Trinity since the death of Father Kelly, has been promoted to a better position than the one of assistant rector at New Albany. He has been transferred to St. Patrick's church in Indianapolis, where he will be assistant to the Right Rev. Bishop O'Donoghue. Father Kennedy is one of the ablest of the younger priests of the diocese of Indianapolis. During his stay in New Albany, both as assistant to Father Kelly and as rector in the interim, he has endeared himself to the people of the parish and to the general public. He has been active in all good works and has taken an active part in promoting church society work, particularly the work connected with the Y. M. C. and the A. O. U. While the friends of Father Kennedy regret his departure from New Albany they rejoice over his deserved promotion to one of the best positions in the metropolis of Indiana.

Father Curran, the new rector, is not very well acquainted in New Albany and Louisville, but those who know him say he is an eloquent preacher and an able man.

THE FLAG.

The Emblem of Freedom Was Adopted by Congress 128 Years Ago.

The flag of the United States was adopted by our national Congress June 14, 1777, just 128 years ago. It is the emblem of freedom, and wherever seen brings joy to the American heart and good will to the people of every land. In honoring and revering our own flag we prepare ourselves for that larger patriotism which esteems and regards the flag of all nations as well as our own. "There are many flags, in many lands; And there are flags of every hue; But there's no flag, however grand, Like our own Red, White and Blue." The well known tri-color of France dates from the revolution of 1789. The oldest flag in existence is that of Denmark, which dates from 1219. The German flag was first unfurled in 1807, and floats over an empire of 52,000,000 people.

The simple striping of the red and yellow in the flag of Spain was suggested by the arms of Aragon. The brilliant flag of Austria-Hungary was adopted March 6, 1809, and floats over 24,000,000 people. The crescent moon and stars were adopted by the Turks as their device on the capture of Constantinople by Mehmet II. in 1453.

It has taken a thousand years to build up the great British Empire of 386,000,000 people, of which the familiar flag of Great Britain is the symbol. Peter the Great, it is said, borrowed the idea of the Russian flag from the Dutch, among whom he learned ship-building. He simply turned the Dutch tri-color red, white and blue upside down.

The white cross on the red field of the Swiss flag has a religious meaning. It was adopted as an appeal to heaven in 1330, when the stout Swiss fought and won one of their greatest battles. The flag of Norway and Sweden will probably soon be changed. It is a mixed flag, composed of the yellow cross of Sweden, the blue and white cross of Norway, and the red and blue fields of both countries.

In compliment to William Prince of Orange, their great liberator, the colors of the house of Orange were adopted by the sturdy people of the Netherlands at the end of their long fight with Spain—orange, white and blue—but nobody knows why.

BATTLEFIELD

Of Fontenoy Visited by Pilgrims From All Over the Globe.

Historic Scene Dear to Hearts of All Irish Men and Women.

IRISH EXILES ON BELGIAN SOIL

Less than a month ago a few patriotic Irish men and women assembled at Tournai, Belgium, for the purpose of paying their tributes of respect to the Irish soldiers who changed defeat into victory on the battlefield of Fontenoy, May 11, 1745. There were a few less than 100 in the party, but what they lacked in numbers they made up in enthusiasm. San Francisco, New York, New South Wales and France sent representatives to back up the main body of delegates from Ireland. The Lord Mayor of Dublin headed the list of distinguished sons of Erin who were in the party. With him was R. Barry O'Brien, whose pamphlet on the "Battlefield of Fontenoy" caused this remarkable pilgrimage.

From Tournai to Fontenoy the journey was made by rail and during a terrible storm, but rain had little terrors for the descendants of the people who snatched victory from defeat on this historic battlefield. At Vezon a halt was made, where Mr. O'Brien outlined the position of the opposing forces on that historic day, 160 years ago. While he was speaking a terrible thunderstorm came up and those who before had laughed at the rain were compelled to board the cars in an effort to seek shelter from heaven's stillery. The pilgrims returned to Tournai for the night, but next morning they assembled at St. Quintin's church, where Canon Carton, P. P., of Donoughmore, celebrated the mass in Gaelic. During the mass the local organist played a selection of Irish airs, which he had arranged in view of the meeting. Among them were "Let Erin Remember," "The Meeting of the Waters" and "The Last Rose of Summer." After mass another start was made for Fontenoy, but once more a thunderstorm marred the festive occasion. However, the pilgrims braved the elements and were greeted by the good cure, who after welcoming them in French shook hands with many of his visitors. In front of the village church the pilgrims sang "The Manchester Martyrs," and then moved to the cemetery, where the members of the Irish brigade who fell at Fontenoy are interred. There they sang "The Memory of the Dead." In this graveyard is the monument erected five years ago by Frank Sullivan of San Francisco. It is of white marble and is on the outside of the wall facing the road nearest to Fontenoy. The inscription reads:

"In Memory of the Heroic Irish Soldiers who changed defeat into victory at Fontenoy, May 11, 1745."

For a third time a storm arose and interfered with the pilgrimage, and as a result a return was made to Tournai. There the banquet was held with the Lord Mayor of Dublin presiding, while several officials of the town joined with the Irish pilgrims in making the occasion a happy one. In addition to the Lord Mayor of Dublin speeches were made by John O'Leary and Barry O'Brien. Frank Sullivan responded in behalf of the Irish brigade, and Father McNulty addressed the assemblage in Irish. The toasts were interspersed with songs, and Patrick D. Hart made a hit with his successful rendition of "Let Erin Remember."

XAVIERIAN BROTHERS ABROAD.

The Rev. Brother Isidore, Director of Mount St. Joseph's College, Baltimore; the Rev. Brother Philip, also a member of the faculty of the same college, and the Rev. Brother Dominic, Provincial of the American Province of Xaverian Brothers, left last week for Europe, where they will take part in the General Chapter of the order which will meet in Belgium during the latter part of this month. The main business to be transacted is the election of a Superior General. It is probable that the Rev. Brother John Chrysostom will succeed himself as Superior General. Before returning to America Brothers Isidore, Philip and Dominic will visit many of the Xaverian colleges on the Continent and in England.

GERMAN CATHOLIC ORPHANS.

The picnic for the benefit of St. Joseph's Orphan Asylum, at Crescent Hill, will be held on August 23. This asylum is maintained by the German Catholics of Louisville, and the picnic should be well attended by all Catholics, irrespective of nationality. Although President Frank A. Fisher and his fellow trustees of St. Joseph's had this picnic well in hand some time ago, they generally refused to make any public announcement of it.

More than that, every German Catholic congregation in Louisville was well represented at the orphans' picnic on July 4, and it will only be right and proper for the English-speaking congregations to show that they appreciate the good work of their German Catholic brethren.

CORPUS CHRISTI

Appropriately Celebrated by Nuns at St. Catherine's Academy.

Out in the woods of Washington county, away from the hurry and worry of the world, the Sisters of St. Dominic celebrated the feast of Corpus Christi last Sunday in true Catholic style. St. Catherine of Siena had a great devotion to the Sacred Heart, and her Sisters in the Dominican community are following closely upon her example. The glare of electric lights, the whizz of electric cars and hurrying throngs of people are not conducive to thoughts eternal. But at St. Catherine's everything suggests all that is good and holy and pure. The trees in their midsummer splendor, the wildwood flowers, the birds of the air and beasts of the field all excite wonder and love in the human heart—wonder at the works of the Almighty—love for the sacred heart of Him who became incarnate for our redemption.

Two shrines had been erected on the academy grounds for this auspicious occasion. They were beautifully decorated by the Sisters.

Novices and novices. With the postulants leading the way, followed by the novices and professed nuns, a solemn procession was formed and marched decorously around the grounds, the Rev. Fathers O'Mahony and O'Neil, O. P., the latter bearing the blessed sacrament, bringing up the rear. At the two shrines and again in the chapel the procession halted for benediction. It was a day long to be remembered by the good daughters of St. Dominic.

GOOD WEATHER

All That Is Needed to Make Picnic of Division 2 a Success.

A week from next Monday Division 2, A. O. U., will hold its picnic at Phoenix Hill Park. It was to have taken place on June 19, but inclement weather had hence the postponement.

Those who have not had any public picnic before, and who are a matter of years, will find the various divisions and their friends desire to get together. Present Con. J. Ford, Owen Keiran, John J. Kane, J. J. Sullivan, Joe Lynch, Al. Keir, Tom Canfield and a host of others, all members of Division 2 are working to insure all who attend the picnic a good time. The famous bowling match between members of Divisions 2 and 4 will be held off, and nothing of the jig dancing, jumping and athletic exercises.

Since the postponement there has been a big increase in the sale of tickets. Those who hold tickets for the official celebration will find them good on July 17. Every member of Division 2 is doing his duty in promoting the success of the affair, and they are being aided by their brother Hibernians in other divisions.

VERY SAD.

Sudden Demise of Thomas K. Kennedy—Shock to His Friends.

Shocking in its suddenness was the death of Thomas K. Kennedy, which occurred at his home, 1422 West Chestnut street, last Monday morning. He had been ill for a short while previous but was supposed to be on the road to rapid recovery when death ensued. Mr. Kennedy was a well known traveling man and after years of hard and active service on the road was almost ready to retire and reap the reward of merited service. He was an earnest, Christian gentleman, a kind husband and an affectionate father. He is survived by several grown children. One of his daughters is a member of the Sisters of Charity of Nazareth, and is now located in Massachusetts. The funeral took place from the Sacred Heart church at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. The interment was in St. Louis cemetery. The family has the sympathy of many friends in their great grief.

Mackin Council, V. M. I., met in regular session Monday night, and considering that it was the eve of July 4 the attendance was unusually large. Quite a number of communications were read and all received prompt consideration. Many applications for membership were received, while quite a number were elected to membership.

Revised plans for the additions to the new club house were submitted, and received careful attention. Reports of the various officers read show that Mackin Council is in sound financial condition and that its executive officers are preparing to meet obligations as fast as they fall due without cutting off any necessary expenses, such as water, gas, etc.

INDUSTRIES

Of Ireland Will Be Set Forth at Approaching Exposition in New York.

Representative New York Irish-Americans Have Affair in Charge.

Irish Linens, Friezes, cloths, Laces, Blankets and Carpets.

REASONS FOR THE ENTERPRISE

An Irish Industrial Exposition will be held at Madison Square Garden, New York city, from September 18 to October 7. Behind the movement are a number of the best known Irish-Americans in New York, and their aim is to show people of the United States what people of Ireland are doing along industrial lines. The honorary treasurer and custodian of all funds subscribed to the exposition, is the Hon. J. J. Dowling, Justice of the New York Supreme Court. He is backed by a large number of Irish-Americans, and is organized for the purpose of conducting this Irish Industrial Exposition. The other officers of the exposition are: President, Patrick J. Nulty, State President of the Ancient Order of Hibernians of New York City; Vice President, William F. McLoughlin, of the Irish-American Athletic Club; Treasurer and General Manager, Patrick J. Powers; Secretary, Edward T. McChrystal, President of the Gaelic Society. The offices of the corporation are at the Fuller Building, Twenty-third and Broadway, suite 415. The new Republic of Ireland, that monument to the genius, the loyalty, the devotion and patriotism of the Irish race, the cornerstone of which will be laid on the day the exposition opens, is to be the direct beneficiary. Every dollar over and above the actual cost of management will be added to the building fund of the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

Ireland has long been depending upon the generosity of her exiled children for sympathizers for aid in her many difficulties. The time has now come when something more definite, more effective than the generous responses to the perennial call for charity must be done. Irish organizations in this country as well as in Ireland have felt that emigration must be stopped, and to accomplish this requires the rebuilding of the productive resources of Ireland.

Many people are inclined to believe that Ireland is unsuited to manufacturing purposes, while in truth no country in Europe offers such fine opportunities to the enterprising capitalist manufacturer. It is intended that every industrial endeavor will be the forthcoming exhibition, which is hoped to illustrate the weaving of friezes, carpets, chevilles, serge, tweeds, wools, and home-spuns, linens, blankets, flannels, rag, and not to speak of the lace, the careful technical promise to shortly reach the stage of a commercial product. The mechanical products, in agricultural implements, wagonage construction relatively new have been made. In short, the industrial exhibition will, through the efforts of its projectors, bring it about, be as varied as an exhibit of Irish handicraft and as it is possible to secure, and the amendment of the exposition will also be varied and high class as it will be possible to make.

This enterprise deserves the hearty support of all Irish-Americans, and it is to be hoped that local Hibernians who are contemplating a visit to New York will defer their trip until the Irish Industrial Exposition opens.

SCHULZ—SHEEDY.

Miss Anna Sheedy and George E. Schulz, both well known and popular in Catholic society circles, surprised their friends Monday afternoon when they were quietly wedded by the Very Monsignor Zabier at St. Martin's church.

The attendants were Miss Anna and Fred Schulz and the ceremony was witnessed by only a few close relatives of the contracting parties. The bride was a handsome young woman, attired in a beautiful gown of gaudy, elaborately trimmed with a white hat trimmed with a bouquet of lilies.

Miss Ford wore a Parisian gown, with a long train, and a white plumed hat.

The bride and groom were accompanied by their parents and a few friends to the altar.

The ceremony was performed by the Very Monsignor Zabier, assisted by the Rev. Father Murphy.

THE DIVORCE EVIL.

Archbishop Farley, of New York, has accorded an interview to the New York Herald on the subject of divorce. The fact that there are 60,000 divorces granted by the courts in this country during the year is appalling and almost a national calamity. The divorce evil is on the increase. Hasty marriages, the Archbishop thinks, is one of the causes of so many divorces, but he does not believe that early marriages cause divorce. The church encourages early marriages, but it does not encourage marriages between Catholics and non-Catholics. The Archbishop thinks one way to discourage divorce is to advise all divorcees, and he approves the plan of the association of women in New York who carry out this plan. The Archbishop says the church sanctions separations in some instances and the persons are morally bound and mentally unfitted to each other. What the church does not sanction is divorce as it is known in this country, which is that after the parties have been given their freedom by the courts, they are at liberty to marry again. It is not the separations of married couples that does so much harm. It is the fact that they only separate to marry others. The attitude of President Roosevelt and Secretary Taft on the divorce question was highly commended by the Archbishop. He expressed a desire to cooperate with Protestants in curtailing the divorce evil.

THE PACKERS' CONSPIRACY.

The Federal grand jury at Chicago, after an investigation lasting three months, has brought indictments against seventeen men prominent in the packing industries for alleged violations of the Sherman anti-trust law and for illegal rebating to the railroads. Besides the indictment of individuals five corporations were included in the bills. Cadahy, Swift, Nel and the Fairbanks Company were indicted. They were brought by direct Department of Justice in Chicago. Many companies have carried on combinations in restraint of trade during the past several years, giving special rates to dealers and by combining with small dealers who came in with them. It has been shown that the Chicago packers for a long time have had the power to fix the price of meat at any figure they saw fit in most American cities. The purpose is to break up this practice, and if the Government at Washington succeeds in this it will have performed great service to the whole people.

In an audience with Most Rev. John J. Keane, Archbishop of Dubuque, Iowa, Pope Pius X. spoke of his order regarding the singing of music by male choirs exclusively in the Catholic churches about the United States. The Archbishop said that he fully approved the fact that its practical application must be gradual and there has been a great deal of discussion about the order relating to the subject of Gregorian chant. It will be many years before the law can be fully carried out.

send off at the Holy Cross College during his recent visit to Worcester, Mass. The President said: "I want to see in Holy Cross, in Harvard, and all other universities where you can get a chair endowed, chairs for the study of Celtic literature. I want to see the American institutions of learning take a lead in that awakening." The President said it was no credit to us that, having so large a percentage of the Celtic element, we should leave it to the German scholars and students to be our instructors in Celtic literature.

John Hay, Secretary of State of the United States, whose death occurred last week, was born within thirty miles of Louisville, in Washington county, Ind. The house in which he was born is still standing. Mr. Hay was a man of great talent. He was Secretary to President Lincoln, Ambassador to the Court of St. James and died while holding the post of Secretary of State. Mr. Hay had been criticised for his pro-British sentiments while at the Court of St. James. He was a man of rugged honesty and the highest personal integrity nevertheless, and the country sustained a great loss in his death.

The coming election in November for Mayor and other city officials promises to be a lively one. Although the weather is hot, politics is being discussed at a lively rate and the organizations on both sides will be made earlier than in former campaigns. It is a little too early to make predictions because only one side has its ticket in the field. However, everything seems to favor the election of the ticket headed by Paul C. Barth. The Democrats have all the advantage, and with a good organization can win. This organization is now being perfected.

Cablegrams still continue to come from Rome that the Pope is about to establish amicable relations with the Italian Government. In a long dispatch last Sunday it was stated that the Pope would receive a guarantee of independence and an income from the Italian Government and would be free to leave the Vatican whenever he pleased. While the present Pontiff seems to be on better terms with the Government of Italy, the cablegrams stating that amicable relations are to be restored at once should be taken with due allowance for the imaginations of the correspondents.

Following the encyclical letter regarding the teaching of the elements of the Christian doctrine Pius X. has decided upon a plan of uniformity in catechism. A commission has been appointed to prepare text books which shall be used all over the world. It is said that the official catechism used in the diocese of Milan will be used. This catechism is in three editions—one for little children and the other two for more advanced pupils. It will be translated into all modern languages for use in Catholic schools and Sunday-schools throughout the world.

Mayor George B. McClellan, of New York, in an address at St. John's College, Fordham, where he conferred the diplomas to the graduates, declared that the besetting sin of this country is avarice. He said, "The Mayor's office has received with appreciation the students and professors of the college, and I am sure that the Archbishop Farley will be pleased to see the graduates of this college."

was conferred on the Mayor by the college.

Secretary Taft and a number of Senators and Congressmen are on their way to the Philippine islands on official business. Before returning the Secretary will arrange for the final disposition of the Friars' lands and the payment of the money to the orders which hold titles to the lands.

President Roosevelt has tendered the office of Secretary of State, made vacant by the death of John Hay, to Elihu Root, one of the ablest lawyers in the country and a former Cabinet officer. Mr. Root has accepted the trust. He is thoroughly American and will not stand for any "Hands Across the Sea" funny business. Success to him.

The Catholic summer school at Cliff Haven, Ky., has opened with a larger attendance than ever. The school is attended by distinguished scholars whose lectures are of great benefit to the Catholic world.

RECENT DEATHS.

Mrs. Catherine McKenzie, one of the oldest and most highly respected ladies in Catholic circles, died at her home, 1421 Story avenue, at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Her funeral took place from the Church of the Blessed Sacrament at 9 o'clock on Tuesday morning. The deceased was the widow of John McKenzie, well and favorably known here for many years. She is survived by her sons, Michael, John, James and Martin McKenzie, and her daughters, Mrs. Riley and Misses Katie and Sarah McKenzie. Many friends have extended their sympathy to the bereaved family.

One of the most distressing events that has occurred in New Albany recently was the death on Tuesday night of Miss Anna Raverty, which occurred at the home of her mother on North Pearl street. She had been ill only nine days, and suffered from a malignant case of typhoid fever. The remains were taken to Holy Trinity Church Friday morning, where a requiem mass was celebrated. After the mass they were conveyed to St. Mary's of the Knobs cemetery for interment. The deceased is survived by her mother, Mrs. Kate Raverty, who has the sympathy of many friends in her bereavement.

Miss Irene H. Wabnitz, aged fourteen years, died at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wabnitz, 2324 West Chestnut street, last Friday after a long and painful affliction. The funeral took place Sunday afternoon. While the child is mourned by her loving parents, they are consoled by the thought that her earthly sufferings have been cut short, and that she has passed into a land of happiness to await the arrival of her dear papa and mamma.

The funeral of Edward J. Curran, who died on Friday of last week, took place from St. Patrick's church last Sunday and was attended by a large concourse of his and his family's friends. The deceased was one of the most popular young men in Catholic society circles, and at picnics and other social events was the life of the crowd. His death is widely deplored and his mother is receiving many expressions of condolence over his untimely death.

With the burial of Mrs. Mary Hogan, which took place Monday, another good woman is removed from Catholic and Irish-American circles in Louisville. She was born in Ireland seventy-five years ago, but had lived in Louisville more than half a century. One daughter, Mrs. Mary Stout, of 2217 Lytle street, survives her. The funeral took place from St. Cecilia's church on Monday morning.

In the death of Charles Doerr, which occurred last Tuesday, St. Anthony's parish lost one of its oldest and most esteemed members. His demise occurred at the family residence, 1721 Baird street. He is survived by his son, Harry Doerr, the popular Portland avenue blacksmith, who is receiving many messages of sympathy on account of his father's death.

Monica Montgomery, the eight-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Burkley, died early Monday morning at the family residence, 2812 West Chestnut street. The sorrowing parents have been comforted by the thought that the little one is waiting for them in heaven.

Miss Ellen Dugan, a well known lady of the East End, died at the residence of her brother-in-law, Mr. Charles Kyne, 1507 Payne street, last Monday night. The funeral took place from St. John's church on Thursday morning. The interment was in St. Louis cemetery.

Dennis Monahan, thirty-five years old, died at the residence of his father, Daniel Monahan, 1313 Dumesnil street, on Thursday afternoon. The funeral takes place from St. William's church at 9 o'clock this morning. The interment will be in St. John's cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Campbell, widow of John Campbell, who died at her residence, 2118 West Market street, on Saturday night, took place from St. Cecilia's church on Tuesday morning. The interment was in St. Louis cemetery.

Mrs. Annie Burk, widow of Martin Burk, died early Thursday morning at her home, 524 Caldwell street. The funeral will take place from St. Mary Magdalen's church at 9 o'clock this morning.

phils, which event will take place at Phoenix Hill Park.

The Supreme Council of the Catholic Knights and Ladies will meet in Chicago next week. Miss Mary Sheridan, of this city, who is Supreme Treasurer of the order, will take a prominent part in the proceedings.

SUNSET EXCURSION.

Satoli Council Glee Club will give a sunset excursion one week from today. The boat will leave the foot of First street at 4:30 o'clock. Ample provision will be made to feed the large crowd. Satoli Council has always had a reputation for pleasant social affairs and the attendance is always unusually select. The excursion bids fair to draw the largest crowd of the season. Good music will be provided for those who care to dance.

WIFE'S DUTIES.

Perhaps there is nothing more important to a young wife or more calculated to make home happy than a proper knowledge of her duties and a due regard for household expenditure. Yet many a young girl entering upon life is wholly unqualified for her duties and has to pick up, as it were, her knowledge instead of exercising it. A thorough knowledge therefore of domestic economy is an important part of the acquirements of a young girl and as much a moral obligation on her part as it is on that of a man to have that professional information and tact which enables him to provide for the wants of a wife and family.

NEILSON'S MEMORY

To Be Fittingly Honored by the Poughkeepsie Hibernians.

The question of Samuel Neilson's grave and memory was discussed at some length at a recent meeting of Poughkeepsie Hibernians. Mr. Neilson was a distinguished lawyer and patriot. It was decided that the division would care for the plot and grave in the Poughkeepsie Rural Cemetery in which the remains of Mr. Neilson were buried some years ago after their removal from the old English burying ground where they were first interred. The division further decided to erect a monument of Quincy granite to cost not less than $250. Designs which had been prepared were accepted, and the monument, when completed, will have the sunburst and Irish wolf dog, surrounded by wreaths of shamrock engraved on the stone with a suitable inscription underneath.

LAST OF BACHELORS.

There appears to be some hopes for Frank Adams after all. He was a charter member of the Mackin Council Bachelor's Club, which organization the Kentucky Irish American successfully disrupted; he has stood all the test of dimpled cheeks and flashing eyes. Now a change has come over him. On Thursday night he was seen chewing tolu. It was on an East Broadway car and there can be no doubt about it. Several young ladies recognized him and at once declared Frank was on the market. And one of them hummed:

"He's the last rose of summer left blooming alone; All his lovely companions are faded and gone."

FONTAINE FERRY PARK.

Lew Hawkins, the famous minstrel, will be the headliner in Hopkins' Pavilion at Fontaine Ferry Park next week. Lew always brings a bunch of new jokes and clever parodies. Others on the bill with him are the Solis Brothers, Sylvester Jones and Pringle and the Ellis-Nowlan trio. This popular place of amusement continues to attract large crowds both afternoon and evening.

DESERVED TRIBUTE

To Worth Was Presented to Retiring Trustee
McGinn.Joseph P. McGinn returned home Sunday from St. Louis, where he attended the semi-annual meeting of the Supreme Council of the Catholic Knights of America. At that meeting he retired as one of the Supreme Trustees, and on his retirement was surprised by being presented with a handsome umbrella. The covering is silk, while the handle is ivory, ornamented with gold. The gold plate on the handle bears the name of the recipient, and the whole is a testimonial of the high regard in which he was held by his fellow-members on the Supreme Board.Mr. McGinn states that all the reports read were encouraging and showed that the C. K. of A. is in better shape than ever. The movement to perfect the organization of the order in all the States is well under way. The new ritual was approved and the older and wiser heads now endorse the new system of rating.
The movement to establish the Uniform
Rank is also going to the front.

DOUGLAS HYDE COMING.

The President of the Gaelic
League is to Visit
America.It is now definitely known that Dr.
Douglas Hyde, President of the Gaelic League, will come to the United States next fall to lecture on the national movement and also to visit the leading universities and colleges of the country in the interest of the Irish language and literature. The news of Dr. Hyde's coming will no doubt arouse deep interest among all classes who appreciate the meaning of the great movement, which is doing so much to restore the higher principles of national unity and strength to the Irish race.The Western Watchman says the hearty co-operation of all the societies which have at heart the uplifting of Irish ideals, with the immediate task which Dr. Hyde has in hand, will make certain that St. Louis will enjoy the presence of the beloved President of the league. His coming no doubt will depend in a measure on the action of the local Irish societies, which ought to begin at once the preparations so important an event ought to suggest. A representative committee composed of delegates selected at a joint meeting of the societies would be the initial step toward making Dr. Hyde's visit a memorable one in the history of St. Louis. There is no reason why the foregoing plan should not be followed in Louisville, where many would rejoice to meet Dr. Hyde.An active, united effort at once, in our judgment, would be the appropriate thing in view of the high character which such preparation would give to the Doctor's visit. The language movement is inspiring the best thinking peoples of the world with the vigor and intellectual resources of the Irish race. Let a joint effort be made by all classes of our people to show that Irish men and women are in touch with the most wonderful movement of the age. Concerted action will insure a splendid demonstration of Gaelic strength and tend to advance the cause upon which so much depends for the race at home and abroad.

HONOR FOR BARRY.

A society has been formed in Louisville and New Albany to be known as the "Propagators of Jack Barry's Name and Fame." The purpose of the society is to show that Barry is deserving of the title of "Father of the American Navy."
The members will also urge Congress to pass the bill now pending for the erection of a suitable monument to the memory of Commander Barry in Washington.
Daniel Walsh, Jr., of New Albany, is soliciting subscriptions for the society.

John W. Dawson, One of New Haven's Best Men, Is No More.Kentucky lost a good citizen, New Haven one of its oldest merchants, the Catholic church one of its most faithful members, when John W. Dawson passed away on Thursday of last week. Death followed as the result of several weeks'
illness of general debility.The deceased was born in Nelson county sixty-seven years ago and spent nearly all his life in New Haven, where he was the oldest and one of the most successful merchants. Mr. Dawson belonged to one of the oldest families in Kentucky, as well as to one of the oldest Catholic families in the United States.
His progenitors were among those who came to America from Ireland with Lord
Baltimore, nearly three centuries ago.
He is survived by four sons, Richard A., R. Pierre and Joseph M. Dawson, of Louisville, and Edwin C. Dawson, of New Haven. The funeral took place from St. Catherine's church, New Haven, on Saturday. The solemn requiem mass was celebrated by the Very Rev. Father W. M. Buckman, who delivered an appropriate sermon after the mass. The remains were interred in St. Catherine's cemetery.

CARROLLTON

Y. M. I. Members Appear to Be Matrimonially Inclined.From a matrimonial standpoint the Carrollton members of the Y. M. I. have been very busy during the past year, and recently their activity is increasing. The latest to join the ranks of Benedicts were Joseph Baker, the worthy President, and Clarence Banta. The latter was united in marriage on Tuesday morning to Miss Rose Malone, a lady admired for her many virtues, while President Baker on Wednesday took a bride in the person of Miss Laura Hill, the beautiful and accomplished daughter of John F. Hill, one of Carrollton's most prosperous business men and a good member of the Y. M. I.
Mr. and Mrs. Baker were the recipients of many handsome presents and are spending their honeymoon at Grand Rapids, Mich., the former home of the groom. Both marriage ceremonies were performed by the Rev. Father Ignatius Ahmann.The new church at Carrollton, now rapidly approaching completion, will be one of the handsomest in the State. The picnic given July 4 to aid in paying for its construction netted something over $500.President Joseph Baker has been selected to represent St. George Council at the approaching State convention.

GOOD MEETING

Of Branch 25, C. K. of A.,
Shows That the Order
Makes Progress.Branch 25, C. K. of A., held a well attended meeting in its hall, at Clay and Walnut streets, Monday evening, with President F. R. Deleuill in the chair.
After several minutes of routine importance had been disposed of the resolutions on the death of Brother Jonathan E.
Thickstun were read and adopted.
Reports from the various officers showed that the branch was sound financially, and that at the present time there were seventy-six active and enthusiastic members. Messrs. W. T. Meehan, A. Schunicht, T. J. Llewellyn and Eugene Cooney, Sr., were appointed members of a committee to audit the books of the Secretaries and Treasurer. These gentlemen will meet at the residence of E.
J. Mann, 918 Clay street, at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

OUT OF BED.

Mrs. William O'Neill, who was last week removed to her home at Lexington, after undergoing a delicate operation at St. Joseph's Infirmary in this city, is now able to leave her bed, to the great relief of her friends in Lexington and Louisville. While here her sister, Mrs.
Edward McLaughlin, was constantly at Mrs. O'Neill's bedside.

well as the outside. And if after a sufficient length of time you think the Piano bought of us has not lived up to our representations, we will cheerfully give you another in its stead. Your satisfaction is our first consideration.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

The Mayo fairs was opened most auspiciously in Ballinacree.

The King William statue of Boyle was tared and decapitated.

A party of pilgrims started from Dublin for the battlefield of Fontenoy.

The Donegal County Council appointed
Dr. O'Callaghan, of Carrington, Coroner in room of the late William O'Doherty,
M. P.

Ejectment notices have been served on fifteen tenants on Dorsey Island in addition to the tenants already under notice of eviction.

A visit was paid to the battlefield of Fontenoy by a party from Ireland and London, at which the Lord Mayor of Dublin presided.

The clerical managers of Limerick diocese have passed a resolution asking for the withdrawal of the National Board new rule and also of other rules.

At New Ross, when the fourth annual feis for the County Wexford was opened, the town was magnificently decorated for the occasion, which was a great success.

Joseph Devlin, M. P., speaking at Maghera, County Armagh, said a pledge bond and independent party was a vital and indispensable essential to national success.

An enthusiastic United Irish League meeting was held in Derry, at which a divisional executive was formed and officers for the coming year elected.
Joseph Devlin, M. P., was among the speakers.

On Sunday evening the Belfast National Club bazaar was brought to a termination. Joseph Devlin, M. P., who delivered an eloquent speech, said the function had been a great and unprecedented financial success.

On Thursday evening the annual meeting of the local Catholic Young Men's Society was held at their hall in Waterford. James J. Phelan presided and an address was delivered by the Lord Bishop, the Most Rev. Dr. Sheehan.

A charity sermon was preached on Sunday in Kilsaran church at Castlebel-ligham, County Louth, by Very Rev.
Canon Quinn, of Magherafelt, in aid of the fund for defraying the debt remaining due owing to the expensive improvements recently done to the church and schools.

The annual congress of the Irish Trades Union was held in the Town Hall at Wexford, under the Presidency of James Chambers, who delivered an eloquent address. The Mayor and corporation of Wexford attended in state to receive and welcome the delegates.

At a meeting of the Mayo County Committee the Secretary read letters from the Archbishop of Tuam and the Bishop of Elphin, disapproving of the proposed Connacht conference to deal with the university question. Letters on the subject were also read from Dr. Douglas Hyde, Rev. T. A. Finlay, S. J., and Edward Martyn.

The Rathfrum Rural District Council unanimously adopted a resolution replying to the threat of the National Board to the managers of schools in County Wicklow in connection with the memorial recently forwarded to the board demanding the withdrawal of rule 127.

Conor O'Kelly addressed a meeting at Ardagh, North Mayo, and urged the tenants of Lord Arran and others to purchase through the Cougeated Districts Board, pointing out that the Estates Commissioners had declared in their report that they could spend nothing on improvements.

At the prize winners' concert at the Mayo fairs his Grace the Archbishop of Tuam delivered an address, in the course of which he said that in the case of vaccinations for teachers arising in his archdiocese in future he would see that candidates having a knowledge of Irish got preference, other things being equal.

At a meeting of the Kilkenny County Council the recent speech of William O'Brien, M. P., at Cork was criticised adversely, and resolutions were passed expressing disapproval of "the suggestion made in Cork that no pledge should be, in his archdiocese, in future, exacted from persons seeking election to the Irish Parliamentary party," and most earnestly "indorsing the action of the Irish Parliamentary party under the able leadership of John Redmond and his pledge bound colleagues."

The Dublin Freeman's Journal says:
"Free speech is at an end in the West of Ireland. Acting, of course, in accordance with the Castle, C. D. J. Japhson has, on the statement of some anonymous author of an affidavit, proclaimed a meeting which it was announced would be addressed by two members of Parliament.
The object of the meeting is admirably meritorious. It was the main object for which the recent land act was passed, to secure the redistribution of the vast grazing tracts. Why should members of Parliament and others be forbidden to say a single word, however moderate, legal and constitutional, in favor of this object?
If they broke the law they could be prosecuted and punished. But there was no excuse or shadow of an excuse for gagging them. To realize the atrocity of this proceeding we have only to imagine, if we can, what would happen if it were introduced into England. Imagine an English member of Parliament forbidden to address his constituency and the country flooded with police to prevent him.
In our belief the whole performance is unconstitutional and illegal. An early opportunity should be taken when Parliament reassembles of indicting the system by a motion for the adjournment.
Fresh proclamations will no doubt be forthcoming to justify the motion. Free speech, as we have said, is suppressed in the west by virtue of one proclamation.
By virtue of another proclamation the accused are deprived of that other privilege of freemen—trial by their peers.
The proceeding by which the prisoners in Galway cases are robbed of their right to a common jury is yet another illustration of the Castle methods. The coercion act itself, secured by fraud and forgery, is utilized to secure that the jury shall be drawn from the class of the prisoners' political opponents. Later on, no doubt, when the trial comes on the prosecution will find here the materials for an admirably packed jury of 'stalwarts,' as the present Lord Chief Justice once called them."

JOCKEY CLUB PARK.

Create the spectacular, Create the man who draws the crowd, and his famous Italian band will begin a week's engagement at Jockey Club Park tomorrow night. Last year he created a furore at Jockey Club Park. No leader who ever visited Louisville aroused such enthusiasm among local musicians and music loving people. Unless all signs fail the coming week will be a record breaker.

Each night will bring forth its own particular programme of popular and classic music, but as an appropriate recognition of his countrymen in Louisville Signor Create has designated Wednesday night as Italian night. Such master musicians as Carlini, Rossini, Bacherini, Bellini, Donizetti and Verdi will have their compositions interpreted, while Creatore himself will lead the production of some of his own compositions. Friday night will be Wagner night and on Saturday an appropriate farewell programme will be rendered.

See us for your job putting. Neat work and reasonable price.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing
the Past Week—General News Notes.

Mike Redford, of Division 4, is on the sick list.

Every Hibernian in the city should strive to make the forthcoming picnic of Division 2 a success.

Members of the County Board are considering plans for a joint entertainment before the summer season is over.

Division 1 will hold its regular meeting Tuesday evening, and Division 4
will hold its regular meeting on Wednesday evening.

National President James E. Dolan has commissioned the regimental officers of the First Regiment Hibernian Rifles of Columbus, Ohio.

The Ohio Hibernian Rifles are preparing for a State encampment. Khaki uniforms will be worn and a band will be engaged for the entire week.

At Dunkirk, N. Y., the Hibernians have appointed a committee whose object it will be to introduce the study of Irish history into the curriculum of local parochial schools.

Mr. Mary Daley, State President of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Minnesota, has been doing active work. After instituting a flourishing auxiliary at Caledonia
she organized another at Litchfield.

A great deal of interest centers about the coming meeting of the National Board, which will be held in New York the latter part of this month. Director George Butler, of this city, will be among those in attendance.

Rev. Father Kelly, pastor of St. James church, delivered an instructive and interesting address at the last meeting of Division 4 of Duluth, in which he reviewed the history of the order and gave advice that was much appreciated.

The Hibernian Knights of Seattle were recently presented a handsome and costly silk American flag, the gift of Mrs.
Mary Cleary. The presentation was the feature of a large and successful entertainment, and the address of Hon. G. C.
Murphy was an eloquent and patriotic tribute to our great emblem.

There is an almost unanimous desire that we have another field day or general gathering. Nothing has occurred to bring the members together since the St.
Patrick's day initiation, and unless something is done there may be a loss of interest. The season is fast advancing, therefore the suggestion is made that the County Board give this matter special attention at its next meeting.

TRINITY COUNCIL.

Eight more new members and another big batch of applications marked the work of Trinity Council Monday night.
There was a large attendance and the meeting was very interesting. Encouraging reports were received and a number of communications read and acted upon. The contest for new members by teams headed by Martin and Pilon was warm, the former being in the lead by a small margin. Announcement was made that all arrangements had been perfected for the annual outing and that a large sale of tickets was expected.
President Cooney made some suggestions for the members of the employment bureau, and it was also stated that several positions had been secured for young men.

GENEROUS.

Division 3, A. O. H., held its meeting Monday night and discussed important affairs. By unanimous vote $25 was donated to the success of the orphans' picnic. Several communications were read and definitely acted upon. The matter of holding a big joint initiation was discussed, but definite action was deferred.

PROSPECTIVE OUTING.

The Joint Committee, Y. M. I., is trying to arrange an outing for the members of the three local councils and their friends. The members of the committee desire to secure a site of easy access to all the members around the Falls Cities, and at the same time have ample room
to accommodate a large crowd.
